

恒吉 僚子

RYOKO TSUNEYOSHI

Ryoko Tsuneyoshi is a professor of comparative education at the Graduate School of Education, The University of Tokyo. She is a present member of the Central Council for Education (government), former Director for the Center of Excellence in School Education (2013-2015), former head of the Secondary School Affiliated to the University of Tokyo (2016-2017), former executive board member of the Science Council of Japan and present member, former executive committee member of the Intercultural Education Society of Japan, present and past executive member of the Japan Educational Research Association. Present and past member of textbook committees for social studies and moral education (Kyoiku Shuppan, Tokyo Shoseki). She conducts cross-cultural fieldwork in schools, and she has also written extensively on Japanese education, comparative and multicultural issues.

Books in English. The Japanese Model of Schooling: Comparisons with the United States (RoutledgeFalmer, 2001), Minorities and Education in Multicultural Japan (coedited with K. Okano and S. Boocock, Routledge, 2011), Globalization and Japanese "Exceptionalism" in Education: Insider's Views into a Changing System (edited, Routledge, 2018), Japanese Holistic Education: TOKKATSU (forthcoming, World Scientific). <http://www.p.u-tokyo.ac.jp/~tsunelab/>